The Harvard Environmental Law Review is published semiannually by Harvard Law School students. Views expressed in HELR are those of the authors and do not necessarily reflect the views of its members.

Editorial Policy: HELR has adopted a broad view of environmental affairs to include such areas as land use and property rights; climate change; air, water, and noise regulation; toxic substances control; radiation control; energy use; workplace pollution; science and technology control; and resource use and regulation. HELR is interested in developments on local, state, federal, foreign, or international levels.

Submissions: The editors welcome comments on and criticism of present and past volumes. The editors also welcome the submission of articles for publication. Authors interested in submitting manuscripts should contact HELR at the earliest possible date, at least six months before publication. Submissions by mail should be typed, and double-spaced. All submissions should also be by e-mail, with a Microsoft Word document as an attachment. The text of the e-mail should include the author's complete contact information. Footnotes should comply with The Bluebook: A Uniform System of Citation (19th ed. 2010). Unpublished manuscripts will be returned only if accompanied by return postage.
